

3 REASONS TO TALK TO A REALTOR TODAY

Tony Cusano Real Estate News Letter

September 2017

Many people naturally assume that the most important time to talk to a Realtor® is when you are selling or buying a home. There are many other circumstances in which it makes sense to give a Realtor® a call. Here are a few examples:

#1. When you are in the “thinking about it” stage.

If you're just thinking about selling your home and haven't made a firm decision yet you might feel uncomfortable calling a Realtor. Don't be. In fact, I welcome your call. We can discuss what your current property will likely sell for on today's market and determine the type of home you qualify to buy. That way, you'll have some clarity and be able to make a more informed decision.

#2. If you are nervous about the selling process.

If you have not sold a home before you might be concerned about what is involved in the process. You might even worry that putting your home on the market is going to be a lot of work and create a lot of turbulence for you and your family.

Fortunately, selling your home doesn't need to be scary. A large part of my job as a Realtor® is to make the process as smooth and trouble-free as possible.

So if you have concerns about selling your home give me a call.

#3. If you have questions.

You likely have questions about the local real estate scene from time to time. You might have questions like: “How much did that home around the corner sell for?”; “Is now a good time to make a move, or should I wait until the market changes?”; and, “How much is my current home worth?”

When you have questions don't dig for answers on your own. You can give me a call. As an expert in the local market I can give you the answers you need.
